

Guided Practice 5.2C 1: Unjumble the Jumble

	Benvolio takes Mercutio somewhere quiet to die, and then returns to tell Romeo that Mercutio is dead.
	Lady Capulet demands that Romeo must die as compensation for the death of Tybalt.
	Tybalt fatally injures Mercutio while Romeo comes between them.
	Mercutio is angry that Romeo won't fight and takes his place.
	Mercutio mocks Tybalt, and Benvolio says they should go some place less open to talk.
	Romeo Professes his love for Tybalt and refuses to fight.
	Benvolio and Mercutio are discussing one another's hot tempers and Benvolio is worried because there seem to be many Capulets about.
	Romeo arrives fresh from his wedding to Juliet.
	Montague says Romeo only punished Tybalt for killing Mercutio and should be allowed to go free.
	Romeo tries to stop Tybalt and Mercutio fighting and reminds them of the Prince's threat should anyone break the peace.
	Escalus decides that Romeo will be banished.
	Romeo attacks Tybalt and they fight. Tybalt falls dead, and Benvolio urges Romeo to flee.
	Benvolio explains to Escalus what has just happened.
	Tybalt arrives and demands to know where Romeo is.
	Mercutio, knowing that he is dying, curses both the house of Montague and Capulet.